Just Do It: A Tale of Modern Day Outlaws

"What would make you cross the line?"

JUST DO IT.

For one eventful year, Emily James was allowed unprecedented access to film the secretive world of environmental direct action.

Just Do It lifts the lid on climate activism and the daring troublemakers who have crossed the line to become modern-day outlaws. Documented over a year, Emily James' film follows these activists as they blockade factories, attack coal power stations and glue themselves to the trading floors of international banks despite the very real threat of arrest.

"A smart, funny, adrenalised portrait of 21st century activism" Danny Leigh - The Guardian
